HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS AND Hoofland's German Tonic. The Great Remedies for all Diseases of the LIVER, STOMACH, OR DIGESTIVE ORGANS.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS Is composed of the pure juices (or, as they are medically termed, Extracts,) of Roots, Herbs, and Barks, making a preparation highly concentrated, and entirely free from alcoholic admixture of any kind.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC, Is a combination of all the ingredients of the Bitters, with the purest quality of Santa Cruz Rum, orange, &c., making one of the most pleasant and agreeable remedies ever offered to the public. Those preferring a Medicine free from Alcoholic admixture, will use HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS. Those who have no objection to the combination of the bitters, as stated, will use HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC. They are both equally good, and contain the same medicinal virtues, the choice between the two being a mere matter of taste, the tonic being the most palatable.

The stomach, from a variety of causes, such as Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Nervous Debility, etc., is very apt to have its functions disordered, and in a majority of cases with the stomach, then becomes affected. The result on which is that the patient suffers from several or more of the following diseases:

Constipation, Flatulence, Inward Piles, Fullness of Blood to the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heartburn, Disgust for Food, Fulness or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructations, Sinking or Fluttering at the Pit of the Stomach, Swimming of the Head, Hurried or Difficult Breathing, Fluttering at the Heart, Choking or Suffocating Sensations when in a lying posture, Dimness of Vision, Dots or Webs before the Sight, Dull Pain in the Head, Deficiency of Perspiration, Yellowness of the Skin and Eyes, Pain in the Side, Back, Chest, Limbs, etc., Sudden Flushes of Heat, Burning in the Flesh, Constant Imaginings of Evil, and Great Depression of Spirits.

The sufferer from these diseases should exercise the greatest caution in the selection of a remedy for his case, purchasing only that which he is assured from his investigation and inquiries possesses true merit, is skillfully compounded, is free from injurious ingredients, and has established for itself a reputation for the cure of these diseases. In this connection we would submit those well known remedies—

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS AND HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC, Prepared by DR. C. M. JACKSON, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Twenty-two years since they were first introduced into this country from Germany, during which time they have undoubtedly performed more cures, and benefited suffering humanity to a greater extent, than any other remedies known to the public. These remedies will effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Nervous Debility, Chronic Diarrhœa, Diseases of the Kidneys, and all Diseases arising from a disordered Liver, Stomach, or Intestines.

DEBILITY, Resulting from any Cause whatever; PROSTRATION OF THE SYSTEM, induced by Severe Labor, Hardships, exposure, Excesses, &c.

There is no medicine extant equal to these remedies in such cases. A tone and vigor is imparted to the whole system, the appetite is strengthened, food is enjoyed, the nervous digestion promptly, the blood is purified, a healthy complexion becomes solid and healthy, the yellow tinge is eradicated from the eyes, a bloom is given to the cheeks, and the weak and nervous invalid becomes a strong and healthy being.

PERSONS ADVANCED IN LIFE, And feeling the hand of time weighing heavily upon them, with all its attendant ills, will find in the use of this BITTERS, or the TONIC, as circumstances may require, a genial influence infused into their veins, restoring in a measure the energy and ardor of more youthful days, build up their shattered forms, and give health and happiness to their remaining years.

NOTICE. It is a well established fact that fully one half of the female portion of our population are seldom in the enjoyment of good health; or, to use their own expression, never feel well (a great portion of the time they are languid, devoid of an energy), extremely nervous, and have no appetite. To this class of persons the BITTERS, or the TONIC, is especially recommended.

WEAK AND DELICATE CHILDREN, Are made strong by the use of either of these remedies. They will cure every case of MARASMUS, without fail. Thousands of certificates have been received in the hands of the proprietor, but space will admit of the publication of but a few. They will be observed, are men of note and of such standing that they must be believed.

TESTIMONIALS.

HON. GEORGE W. WOODWARD, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pa., writes: Philadelphia, March 13, 1767.

"I find 'Hoofland's German Bitters' is a good tonic, useful in diseases of the digestive organs, and of great benefit in cases of debility, and want of nervous energy in the system. Yours, truly, GEO. W. WOODWARD."

HON. JAMES THOMPSON, Judge of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. Philadelphia, April 28, 1866.

"I consider 'Hoofland's German Bitters' a valuable medicine in case of debility or indigestion or dyspepsia. I can certify this from my experience of it. Yours, with respect, JAMES THOMPSON."

FROM REV. JOSEPH H. KENNARD, D. D., Pastor of the Tenth Baptist Church, Philadelphia.

Dr. Jackson—Dear sir: I have been frequently requested to connect my name with recommendations of different kinds of medicines, but regarding the practice as out of my appropriate sphere of duty, I have, in all cases declined; but with a clear conscience can bear proof in various instances and particularly in my own family, of the usefulness of Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, I depart for once from my usual course, to express my full conviction that, for general debility of the system, and especially for Liver Complaint, it is a safe and valuable preparation. In some cases it may fail; but usually, I doubt not, it will be very beneficial to those who suffer from the above causes. Yours, very respectfully, J. H. KENNARD, Eighth, below Coates St.

FROM REV. E. D. FENDALL, Assistant Editor Christian Caronicle, Philadelphia.

I have derived decided benefit from the use of Hoofland's German Bitters, and feel it my privilege to recommend them as a most valuable tonic, to all who are suffering from general debility or from diseases arising from derangement of the liver. Yours truly, E. D. FENDALL.

CAUTION. Hoofland's German Remedies are counterfeited. See that the signature of C. M. JACKSON is on the wrapper of each bottle. All others are counterfeit. Principal Office and Manufactory at the German Medicine Store, No. 631 ARCH Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

A STORY OF THE PLAINS.

BY A SOLDIER.

We were seated around our campfire in the latter part of September, 1868, munching our "hard tack" and drinking our coffee with as much unconcern as though such a thing as a Camanche or Cheyenne was never known to exist, though of course we had "posted" a sentry at dusk, and we could hear his measured tread as he passed to and fro where we were sitting, pat outly biding his time to be relieved and join us.

We had been on escort duty for several weeks, and were longing to get back to our company where we could once more enjoy easy duty and comfortable quarters. One more day would bring us into the cherished "haven of rest," and we were soldier fashion enjoying our humble fare, and speculating on the probability of our being ordered off again.

There were seven of us. Corporal Haines; Privates Burns, Jones, Davidson, Lane, McNeil, and myself, all belonging to Company —, 37th U. S., Infantry, and all true types of the American soldier, careless, good natured and independent fellows. Davidson was on "post," and in half an hour more would be relieved by McNeil.

We had camped about 4 o'clock, having made a long stretch during the day, and it being the only desirable camping place we would be likely to find for several miles farther.

We were surrounded on all sides by the coarse rank Buffalo grass, about the height of a man's waist. It had not been burned owing to some cause or other, and we were necessarily careful in not igniting it. The evening was warm and pleasant, and but for the necessity of cooking our coffee could easily have dispensed with a fire.

As the evening advanced the surrounding prairies became discordant with the wild wailing noise of the coyotes and wolves; but experience had learned us that we had nothing to fear from these animals. The only creature we had to fear on that wild expanse was an animal more cunning and far more blood thirsty than the wolf; an animal that would dog your tracks day after day, week after week only watching his opportunity to steal upon you and send an arrow through you, or confronting you in superior numbers, endeavor to stampede your animals when he would have you at his mercy. God save the mark. Such is the nature of the Camanche Indian the much abused, and to be pitied "noble red man of the forest."

We had seen no "signs" of Indians since starting from Fort ——, and were congratulating ourselves on getting back without "losing our hair," when, that evening before camping, Corporal Haines, (an old soldier and a careful and prudent noncommissioned officer,) had spied two horseman on the Bluffs, some two or three miles to our left. He had directed our attention to them, but before we could discover them they had disappeared behind the hills and were seen no more. Some of the boys tried to persuade the Corporal that he had been deceived, but the wary fellow declared he had not, and kept his own counsel

By the time we had reached Camp the circumstance had nearly been forgotten, and only a slight reference had been made to it during the evening. Corporal Haines had, however, on posting the sentry, imposed the utmost vigilance on him, and instructed him to call him on the slightest appearance of danger. We were thinking of rolling ourselves in our blankets and going to sleep, when we were startled by the sharp and quick challenge of Davidson, who was still on post, "Who comes there?" We were all on our feet in an instant, and our arms in our hands. Davidson was standing about twenty paces from the fire with his piece at a charge. Receiving no answer to his challenge, he brought his gun to his shoulder and fired. Only a wolfish yell was the reply, and we could all see something to all appearances one of those animals trot off among the grass, passing within a few yards of us. Some of us would have fired at it but was forbid to do so by the Corporal, as he said it was not worth a shot, calling out at the same time to Davidson with some impatience "If he did not know the difference between a coyote and an Indian. Davidson replied, that they might laugh at him if they choose, but that it was no coyote, but a man that he had fired at, that hearing a slight rustling in the grass he had intently watched it and seen something rise the height of a man, and that when he had challenged it had dropped again and he had fired and had seen it drop." He was known to be a brave, careful and disciplined soldier, and this assertion was received by the Corporal in a manner that showed us that his suspicions were aroused; and that he believed us to be in danger. Two or three others were of the same opinion, but the majority of us laughed and considered it a good joke that we had all been frightened by a wolf.

Among the latter was McNeil, whose time had now come to relieve Davidson and stand two hours. The Corporal cautioned him to be very vigilant as it was his opinion that there were Indians around, and directed the rest of us to lie with our arms in readiness for action at an instant's notice. McNeil, a careless fellow, more fitted for a clown than a soldier, though brave enough when put to the test, laughed and said lightly, "Boys you can go to bed and sleep soundly; I will not wake you by firing at a wolf." Poor fellow he paid dearly for his carelessness.

The rest of us (with the exception of the Corporal) rolled ourselves in our blankets and stretched on the ground, some around the fire and some under the wagons, were soon asleep.

Not so the Corporal. Knowing the carelessness and imcompetency of McNeil he wrapt his blanket around him, and sitting down a few paces from the fire with his rifle in his hand, watched and listened intently. McNeil apparently not noticing him kept on his beat and walking rapidly to and fro took little heed of what passed around him.

Suddenly when at the end of his beat, and about twenty yards from where Haines was sitting, and the moment he turned to retrace his steps, a form rose from the long grass and springing on him before he could utter a sound stabbed him to the heart. The Corporal's attention was not directed that way at the moment but he heard the fall and looking quickly seen slowly approaching on hands and feet, and stealthy as a cat an object he knew to be an Inian. Quickly dropping flat on the ground he noiselessly cocked his piece and awaited the approach of the savage. There were still a few embers glowing which showed the forms of two or three soldiers lying around it. The savage had got within a few paces of the nearest one and with his deadly tomahawk grasped in his right hand was slowly raising to commence his work of destruction, when the Corporal covering him as well as he could by the imperfect light, fired. The Indian gave a yell of agony and springing into the air fell dead. And not the yell of him alone answered the shot but that of twenty others around us filled the night air with their horrid screeches. Of course we were all on our feet in an instant, and bewildered by sleep and unable to comprehend any thing for a moment stood erect, and with our guns grasped in our hands looked around for the cause of the disturbance. Corporal Haines shouted, "down every one of you or you will be shot," but this warning came too late. A shower of arrows and the discharge of two or three firearms was the only reply, and Burns fell pierced through the body by an arrow. Seeing then the true situation of affairs we all threw ourselves on the ground and awaited the coming of the savages. But they were too cunning to be caught in that way, as it would in all probability endanger some of their lives, and that is something the "noble red man" has a peculiar aversion to doing notwithstanding statements made to the contrary.

But now arose a new and unlooked for difficulty. The mules, eighteen in number, tied to the front of the wagons (army fashion) beginning to scent the blood of the dead Indian lying near them, and frightened at the discharge of the firearms, began to grow restless, and we saw if we did not soon "have peace" they might break loose, and once out, twenty or thirty yards in the grass would be captured by the Indians.

The savages themselves must have perceived this, as they would occasionally launch an arrow among the poor brutes, which if it would strike one would cause a great commotion among them and some hard tugging at the halters which fortunately held them fast. But the Indians apparently grew tired of this sport, and but for an occasional shot that came whizzing through the grass, over us they kept quiet.

They had calculated on finding us an easy prey, and such undoubtedly would have been the case, and we all would have been murdered but for the watchfulness of Corporal Hains. They had been foiled in their attempt, and besides losing one of their daring men (as he had evidently been) cared little to risk any more of their precious lives, and they apparently intended to confine themselves to trying to stampede our mules, and had they persisted in their attempt but a short time longer they would have succeeded. But luckily they did not know this and probably thinking it useless to waste their arrows on a purpose that would not succeed, ceased firing at the mules and we heard no more of them. We had no idea when they withdrew, but we slept no more that night, expecting every moment to be rushed on by them.

At last the morning broke, and we could see that they had retired during the night. We found poor McNeil lying stark and stiff where he had fell, untouched except by the blow that had bereft him of life. Burns though having a wound through his body and unable to stand, was alive and would doubtless recover was he placed in the Doctor's hands. The dead savage, a huge Camanche, lay beside us shot through the heart. We left him as he had fell, knowing when we left his comrades would return and take care of him, and even if they did not it mattered little to us. We buried poor McNeil where he had fell, "the sod with our bayonets turning," and fired a volley over his grave.

We started early from the spot and reached Fort early in the day. Burns was placed in the Hospital, and recovered in a few weeks. Corporal Hains was warmly approved for his conduct and received a rapid promotion.

☞ There can be no greater mistake than for our delicate dames who pass so much of their lives indoors to sit or lounge in dark rooms. They require all the sun's light they can get. It is true that whatever defects of toilette or complexion they may have will be better concealed from a chance visitor by obscurity; but this small gratification of vanity is too dearly purchased at the cost of health.

HUNTINGDON, Feb. 22, 1869.

Messrs. Editors:—To-day is the one hundred and thirty-seventh anniversary of the birth-day of George Washington. Though I am not writing for him a memoir, I only wish to give to your readers an untarnished history of my wanderings from Saturday until Monday evening, through the mountainous vales of beauty that girt the vision along the Huntingdon and Broad Top Railroad. Yet, on the day in which I write—a day sacred to all Americans—a day in which we should all pay our annual tribute to the memory of Washington, let feelings of love, respect, admiration and veneration fill our breasts for him who in the dark days of the revolution, through eight long years of weary strife, in success and defeat, led our noble band of heroes until victory, secure and permanent, rested upon their banners, and who, as helmsman, afterwards guided the ship of state so successfully through the turbulent waters of that period — But enough.

Americans bound for Europe, and fresh from her shores, will bid you look to the Alps and the Andes to see their snow-white summits, and ask you in admiration and awe to reverence Nature. May we not ask our immediate neighbors to look around them—even those who have been lured to a foreign shore; may we not ask them all to look to the illustrious, venerated and beloved scenes around them, and come home and do reverence to all the scenes that are incident to human life—the scenes that bid us live, and look beyond the turmoils of life and cast our gaze, in faith, beyond the deep imperial that spans our sited and measured visions.

On Saturday, the 20th, I left Huntingdon to seek the old and mellowed associations of bygone days, and pluck from their veins the mystic grape, the juice of which sends thraldom to the human breast, and amidst our joys, pleasures and vicissitudes causes the pulse to vibrate, and bid welcome to its scenes of association all the piety, all the gratitude and love that an erring people can bestow. Were there no evil in this picture, were there no lamentations and woe, we would come home and twine around our hearts the beating anguish of a heart made desolate by its own aspirings; and yet, at times, permitted to soar amidst its own aspirings to love, hope and charity.

Since Christ assumed humanity—though rich, yet poor, and had not where to lay his head—poverty has become dignified, and assumed an independence which the favored and unfavored alike gaze upon with admiration and respect. You may deem me extravagant; no matter. Travel the Huntingdon and Broad Top Railroad from Huntingdon to Dudley; there take foot and travel to Traugh Creek's dilated valley, amidst scenes of storm or sunshine—scenes picturesque and romantic—vales undulated and lustrous—and you will see Broad Top's many peaks kissed with heaven's mystic white snow upon their summits, while below sheep graze upon her hills, cattle pick their sustenance, the plowshare upheaves her soil, and "where unto thou plantest thou shalt surely reap." Below her summits schoolhouses dot the surface, and many churches raise their heads, pointing to heaven, evincing that God, too, reigns in the wilderness. A stranger visiting our town on the Sabbath will certainly admire her church-going people; not less will you admire the sons of our mountains and valleys seeking the shades of the church to pay their worship to the God they love.

Last Sabbath I visited the Eagle Foundry M. E. Church, and listened to an excellent sermon by the worthy Presiding Elder of this district, after which some eighty or ninety partook of the feast dedicated to our Master and Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ.—Four ministers assisted therein. But I must close. When I look upon our mountains and vales, in the process of redemption, I see a blessed trinity of agents, aiming at the same great end. Laborers are cultivating the home vineyard in the name of the Lord.—May we never forget that the diadem which is to adorn the Saviour's brow is "the crown of all the earth."

ELMER.

THE EFFECTS OF NEURALGIA.—W. J. Bradley, who for some time past has been in the employ of J. G. Reading & Co, spoke dealers of Frenchtown, Hunterdon county, and who acts as agent buying lumber for the firm, started for the South not long since, partly in the discharge of his business engagements and partly to settle up an estate of his which had been lying for a long time past in an unsettled condition. Having arranged matters satisfactorily, he started for Frenchtown, where he arrived on Saturday evening last, laboring under a severe attack of neuralgia in the head, brought on by exposure and cold. Arriving late in the evening, he had no opportunity to deposit his money, and so placed it in the bottom of his trunk, in his bedroom, with the intention of depositing it in the bank on Monday morning.—Gradually the neuralgic pains increased, until Mr. Bradley was rendered temporally insane, and while at the height of one of those severe spells, on Sunday evening, he took the money from his trunk and threw it into the stove, in the bedroom, and in that instant a fortune was lost. His wife had just left the room, and, upon returning, found, to her astonishment, nothing left but the envelopes which contained the precious stuff. Madame Rumor has her usual number of stories, and the exact amount is as yet unknown. Part of the money was in greenbacks and part in United States Government bonds.—Newark Courier.

THE SUFFRAGE AMENDMENT.—The suffrage amendment to the Constitution of the United States, may and it may not come before our present Legislature. The Legislatures of Kansas, Louisiana, Missouri, Wisconsin and West Virginia, have already ratified the amendment. President Grant gives the amendment his hearty approval, and it is fair to suppose that every Republican Legislature will ratify it.

DEMOCRATIC EXTRAVAGANCE.—While much has been said by Republican journals about the alleged extravagance of Republican members of the House in regard to the pasting and folding business, we have not seen one Democratic journal denounce the proposition introduced by Mr. McMillen, a Democrat, to increase the pay of members from $1000 to $1500; but which was voted down by a vote of 28 for to 60 against. 17 Democrats and 11 Republicans were in favor, and 45 Republicans and 15 Democrats were against the extra take. This vote shows the Democratic idea of economy, and if they had been in the majority they would have followed the example of their brother Democrats in Ohio, who voted themselves so much per day and prolonged the session.

Gone to its Long Home.

Our readers will no doubt be pained yea, sorrow-stricken to learn the sad intelligence of the sudden but decided demise of the Charleston (S.C.) Mercury, the stiffest, stoutest, sturdiest, and most exquisitely unreasonable of all rebel newspapers. R. B. Rhett, Jr., late the editor of the defunct sheet, in a "long farewell," of his own, avows that "whatever may have been the defections and backslidings of others, that Secession sentiments yet spring immortal in his besom; that he has forgotten nothing; that he has forgiven nothing; that he is to-day a rebel in theory, and that he hopes to-morrow to be a rebel in practice"—"he is in a state of intolerable bondage, the victim of despotism, of irresponsible and unlimited power of 'sectional ambition' and 'of sectional avarice'"—there is "an existing despotism enthroned at Washington," which he must bear as he bears disease and pestilence and storms which he cannot avert"—"the day which brings him the power to cast it off, will be the day of his deliverance,"—"he is for Southern Independence still"—"there is no ground," he says, "of forgetfulness, no possibility of forgiveness"—"the South groans under a despotism of vagrant white men and ignorant, filthy negroes"—"the General Government is hopelessly despotic"—"he looks to a future of Independence"—"the people of the Southern States will yet be a great and free people," while the people of the Northern States "must expect only weakness and desolation," and all the horrors of "a despotic mobocracy"—"the future independence of the South" is all that Mr. Rhett, Jr., desires, and so "he takes his place among her ruined children, and waits, hoping, praying, expecting the bright coming of her final deliverance." Such, are the whinings of an uncompromising, double-distilled, dyed-in-the-wool specimen of the unconstructed Southern chivalry, whose Mercury has gone down to rise no more. May all others of the same ilk speedily follow. It is scarcely necessary to add that Mr. Rhett is an injured Democrat.

NOMINATIONS CONFIRMED.—The Senate on Friday confirmed the following nominations in Executive session:

Commissioner of Internal Revenue—Columbus Delano.

Lieutenant General Sherman, to be General.

Major General Sheridan, to be Lieutenant General.

Brigadier General Schofield, to be Major General, in place of Sheridan.

General Augur, to be Brigadier General, in place of Schofield.

Canal Enlargement.

A contract has recently been entered into, between the connecting Canal Companies of the Susquehanna, for the enlargement and deepening of all parts of the said Canals, which together form the line between Wilkes Barre and Havre de Grace, and between Duncan's Island and Huntingdon, so that boats drawing 5½ feet of water, can freely pass between all of the said places, carrying from 150 to 300 tons each according as they are single, or sectional boats. From Havre de Grace up to Duncan's Island, the large section boats can now be used, as all the locks up to this point have, or soon will be, doubled in length. It is to be hoped that the Pennsylvania Canal Company, in the improvement of the Juniata Division of their canal, (from Duncan's Island to Huntingdon) will abandon the old canal location and make the Juniata itself a slack water navigation. It is believed that to do this will cost less than to enlarge the old State Canal, and the advantages in thus utilizing the whole river, for purposes of navigation, are so numerous, and great, in comparison with the simple enlargement of the prism of the old Canal, that we think when they come to be duly estimated, the Company will certainly decide to execute the slack water project, and thus exceed the requirements of their contract, for the advancement of their own interests, as well as those of the public.

The area within a circle of sixty miles around Harrisburg, is destined to be the seat of the great iron manufacturing business of this State, and probably of this country. All the articles that will be required in this immense business, such as coal, iron ore, limestone, brick, sand, stone, metals and lumber, are articles requiring cheap transportation, such as can only be furnished by water lines.

As most of these Canals are now owned by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company—and as the capacity of that road will soon be taxed to its utmost, in carrying the immense tonnage there will be to be moved between the West and the Seaboard, which will also be of vastly more profitable character than the heavy bulky commodities such as we have described, and which now, even, cumber the road in their transportation, and it is said too are carried without any profit to the Railroad Company. By turning this part of the business off of the road on to the canal, it will vitalize the canal interest, and make it an exceedingly profitable one to the railroad company, as well as a benefit to the public, by the diminished cost in the transportation of the articles named, thus helping to build up the great manufacturing business, within the circle described. Another great advantage to the Pennsylvania Railroad will be the freedom to occupy the ground, for additional tracks and sidings, now taken up by the canal; the canal and railroad as at present impinge so much on each other at many places, as to leave no room or space for more than one track for the road. But that which will interest many of our readers the most in connection with the above described enterprise is, on its completion, Huntingdon will become the great shipping point of most of the coal which now simply passes through our town from the Broad Top, and other great bituminous coal fields, farther west. The re-shipment and handling of this coal at Huntingdon will give employment to a large number of people, and cause our river front to assume a busy appearance, in the unloading of the thousands of cars, and the loading of the hundreds of boats which will be constantly arriving and departing, in the business of bringing and taking away this coal. The citizens of this place therefore have a great interest in the earliest consummation of this important enterprise. Huntingdon as the depot for the re-shipment of the already large, and constantly increasing bituminous coal traffic, will at once become a place of importance. Capital will find many ways of profitable investment in our midst—and a start will be given to our place, which is only needed to insure its future growth and prosperity.

☞The Forty-first Congress, just convened, has sixty-six Senators, of whom 56 are Republicans and 10 Democrats. This is exclusive of the Senators from Georgia, not yet admitted, who will count one more on each side. The House has two hundred and twenty-eight members, including delegates from the territories of Arizona, Colorado, Dakota and Wyoming, Idaho, Montana, New Mexico, Utah, and Washington. Of the whole number, 152 are Republicans and 76 Democrats; thus securing a Republican majority precisely equal to the Democratic vote. These figures may be slightly changed, as New Hampshire elects a new representation this week, Connecticut next month. Georgia has not yet elected for this Congress, and Florida and Alabama are in the same condition. Then Mississippi, Virginia and Texas are still unreconstructed, and may have their representatives under an early reconstruction. As the matter stands, the Republicans have 76 majority in the House and 46 in the Senate, a Republican President, Vice President and Cabinet. The Government is once more entirely in Republican hands. It becomes those entrusted with power to use it wisely and well, so that the popular support of this great and progressive party may be continued in the future as in the past until the work of reconstruction is thoroughly accomplished.

General Grant's Cabinet.

On Friday the 5th, President Grant sent in the following nominations to the Senate for positions in his Cabinet, which were immediately confirmed:

Secretary of State—Elihu B. Washburne, of Illinois.

Secretary of Navy—Adolph E. Borie, of Pennsylvania.

Secretary of Treasury—A. T. Stewart, of New York.

Secretary of Interior—J. D. Cox, of Ohio.

Postmaster General—J. A. J. Cresswell, of Maryland.

Attorney General—Geo. E. Hoar, of Mass.

No nomination made for Secretary of War.—Gen. John M. Schofield continued.

The above are said to be all sound Republicans. Washburne, the Secretary of State, is Gen. Grant's especial friend. It was through his influence that Grant got his first position in the army. Adolph E. Borie, is a retired merchant of Philadelphia, is the first Vice President and was last year the acting President of the Union League of that city. A. T. Stewart is the noted merchant prince of New York, who was among the first a year ago to urge the nomination of Grant by the people irrespective of party. J. D. Cox was a Brigadier General during the war, and was elected Governor of Ohio by 30,000 majority in '66. Mr. Cresswell is a loyal Marylander, was a Republican U. S. Senator from 1861 to 1867. Geo. E. Hoar of Massachusetts, is said to be the well known Judge who was imprisoned in Charleston, S. C., whither he was dispatched several years before the war to plead the cause of a colored citizen of Massachusetts who was held as a slave.

Some of the appointments took the "politicians" by surprise.

AN OVERLOOKED STATUTE.

It is currently reported this evening that Mr. Stewart, of New York, is ineligible to the office of Secretary of Treasury, on account of an old statute, which is still in force, and which seems to have been entirely overlooked. It caused considerable uneasiness, and at 11 o'clock P. M., there was a consultation among President Grant's Cabinet as to what is to be done in this matter. A proposition is being considered to have this law repealed, and a bill will be at once introduced in the Senate to have this act so modified as to allow Mr. Stewart to accept and hold the Treasury Department.—The act is as follows, and was approved September 2, 1789:

An Act to Establish the Treasury Department:

* * * * * * * * *

Section 3. Be it enacted, &c., That no person appointed to any office instituted by this act shall, directly or indirectly, be concerned or interested in carrying on the business of trade or commerce, or be owner, in whole or in part, of any sea vessels, or purchase by himself or another in trust for him, any public lands or other public property, or be concerned in the purchase or disposal of any public securities, of any State or of the United States, or take or apply to his own use any emolument or gain for negotiating any business in the said department, other than that which shall be applied by law; and if any person shall offend against any of the provisions of this act, he shall be deemed guilty of a high misdemeanor, and forfeit the United States three thousand dollars, and shall, upon conviction, be removed from office, and be forever thereafter incapable of holding any office under the United States, &c., &c.

It is not unlikely that Mr. Stewart will decline the office, as he cannot wind up his business in time to accept it in accordance with this law. In the oath of office, now taken by the treasury officials, is a clause that they have no interest, directly or indirectly, in any importations, &c., in accordance with the provisions of this statute; so that Mr. Stewart cannot take the oath if this law is appealed to him. Chief Justice Chase has been asked for his opinion upon this question.

P. S.—We have the news this Tuesday morning, that Mr. Stewart and Mr. Hoar have declined, and that Mr. Boutwell of Massachusetts and Mr Tremaine of New York, have been appointed to fill the vacancies.

Inauguration of President Grant.

WASHINGTON, March 4, 1869.

The day dawned with rain, but the route along which the procession had to pass was soon thronged with people. The first appearance of troops at headquarters was Company K, Fifth U. S. Cavalry.

General Grant arrived shortly afterwards, when the following cable dispatch was placed in his hands:

"March 4th, 1869.—To President Grant, Washington: In honor of the man and the day, three cheers for the President. Members of the Berlin Exchange FRITZ MAYER."

In the meantime the troops and military organizations began forming, and the crowds of spectators upon the streets grew more dense. At precisely eleven the Marshals entered headquarters. The troops were everywhere stationed at their proper posts. General Grant, calm and composed as ever in his life, came from his office and entered his phæton, accompanied by General Rawlings. Vice President Colfax came next and entered the next carriage, accompanied by Admiral Bailey. Next came the members of the staff of the General, who entered carriages with the committees of Congress and of the different organizations present. As the procession started a band struck up "Hail to the Chief."—Regular and other troops were drawn up along the square, and came to a 'present arms" as the carriage containing the President elect, with his head uncovered, drove slowly along, while immense cheers rent the air on every side.

There were eight grand divisions in line. Among the prominent objects of attraction was a miniature ship, fully rigged and manned, and a printing press in operation.

The head of the parade having attained the Capitol, the President elect entered to take the oath and deliver his inaugural address. The throng of human beings in front exceeded anything of the kind ever before witnessed here. The procession was about one hour in passing a given point.

On reaching the platform the President elect took the seat provided for him directly in front of the center, Vice President Colfax and the Sergeant-at-Arms, in charge of the ceremonies, sitting on his right, and the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court on the left. The Senate committee of arrangements were near at hand, and next in the rear. The Associate Justices of the Supreme Court occupied seats on the left, and the members and Secretary of the Senate on the right.

The rain had ceased, and though the atmosphere was damp and heavy, the weather seemed to have no chilling effect upon the general enthusiasm—The grounds opposite and the streets adjoining were packed with human beings. Near General Grant, and a little behind him, sat Mrs. Grant, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Sharp, and Mrs. Casey, her sister in law, Mrs. Gen. Dent and her children, Jennie and Nellie, and Master Fred and U. S, Jr.

The shouts and bursts of music from a dozen bands subsided as the President elect and Chief Justice of the United States rose simultaneously, and the latter commenced in clear and solemn tones to recite the formula of the Presidential oath of office, which General Grant reverentially took. The boom of cannon and shouts of the vast multitude burst forth.

Partial quiet having been restored, the President rose and proceeded to read from manuscript his inaugural address, (which will be found in another column.) His voice was not audible except to persons on or near the front of the platform, but at every pause the satisfaction manifested by those who were near at hand was responded to by cheers and shouts from the crowd more distant, and some of the points of the address were quietly circulated from mouth to mouth and made the occasion for applause, even some time after their utterance.

During the delivery of the address, little Nellie Grant was lifted over the shoulders of the intermediate spectators, and reached the side of her father, where she stood some time unseen and unnoticed by him, but so smiling and happy and brightly innocent that her presence seemed to lend a gleam of sunshine to the scene, and the incident called forth many expressions of pleasure and admiration.

At the conclusion of the address, the President was warmly congratulated by his friends, and soon afterwards left in his carriage for the White House. The procession re-formed, and took up the line of march in the same direction, and the Senate having returned to the chamber, the crowd dispersed, and the inauguration ceremonies were brought to a conclusion.

Most of the Senators having returned to the chamber, the session was resumed at 12:45 P. M., and five minutes afterwards, on motion of Mr. Trumbull, the Senate adjourned until twelve o'clock to-morrow.

President Grant reached the White House after his inauguration about 2 P. M. He was met at the door by Gen. Schofield, Secretary of War, who had been left by Mr. Johnson in charge of the executive office. The latter left the White House at twelve o'clock with the members of his Cabinet except Gen. Schofield. Vice President Colfax also accompanied President Grant to the White House. The members of the staff of Gen. Grant were all present. An immense multitude congregated outside the gates of the Executive Mansion, in the belief that there would be a general reception, but the President decided not to have one this afternoon.

Inaugural Address of President Grant

Citizens of the United States: Your suffrage having elevated me to the office of President of the United States, I have in conformity with the Constitution of our country, taken the oath of office presented therein. I have taken this oath without mental reservation, and with the determination to do, to the best of my ability, all that is required of me. The responsibilities of the position I feel, but I accept them without fear. The office has come to me unsought. I commence its duties untrammeled. I bring to it a conscientious determination to fill it to the best of my ability to the satisfaction of the people. On all leading questions agitating the public mind, I will always express my views to Congress and urge them according to my judgment, and, when I think it desirable, will exercise the Constitutional privilege of interposing a veto to defeat measures which I oppose; but all laws will be faithfully executed, whether they meet my approval or not. I shall on all subjects have a policy to recommend, none to enforce against the will of the people. Laws are to govern all alike—those opposed to as well as those who favor them. I know no method to secure the repeal of bad or obnoxious laws so effective as their stringent execution.

The country having just emerged from a great rebellion many questions will come before it for settlement in the next four years which preceding administrations have never had to deal with. In meeting these it is desirable that they should be approached calmly, without prejudice, hate or sectional pride. Remembering that the greatest good to the greatest number is the object to be attained, this requires security of person, property and free religious and political opinion in every part of our common country, without regard to local prejudice. Laws to secure these will receive my best efforts for their enforcement.

A great debt has been contracted in securing us and our posterity the Union. The payment of this, principal and interest, as well as the return to a specie basis, as soon as it can be accomplished without material detriment to the debtor class or to the country at large, must be provided for. To protect the national honor every dollar of government indebtedness should be paid in gold, unless otherwise expressly stipulated in the contract. Let it be understood that no repudiater of one farthing of our public debt will be tolerated in public place, and it will go far towards strengthening a credit which ought to be the best in the world, and will ultimately enable us to replace the debt with bonds bearing less interest than we now pay. To this should be added a full and faithful collection of revenue, a strict accountability to the Treasury for every dollar collected, and the greatest practicable retrenchment in expenditure in every department of the Government. When we compare the paying capacity of the country now, with ten States still in poverty from effects of war, but soon to emerge, I trust to greater prosperity than ever before, with the paying capacity of twenty-five years ago, and calculate what it probably will be 25 years hence, who can doubt the feasibility of paying every dollar then with more ease than we now pay for useless luxuries. Why, it looks as though Providence had bestowed upon us a strong box—the precious metals locked up in the sterile mountains of the far West, which we are now forging the key to unlock to meet the very contingency that is now upon us. Ultimately it may be necessary to increase the facilities to reach these riches, and it may be necessary also that the general Government should give its aid to secure this success; but that should only be when a dollar of obligation to pay secures precisely the same sort of dollar to use now, and not before. Whilst the question of specie payments is in abeyance, the prudent business man is careful about contracting debts payable in the distant future. The nation should follow the same rule. A prostrate commerce is to be rebuilt and all the industries encouraged. The young men of the country, those who from their age must be its rulers twenty-five years hence, have a peculiar interest in maintaining the national honor. A moment's reflection as to what will be our commanding influence among the nations of the earth in their day, if they are only true to themselves, should inspire them with national pride. All divisions, geographical, political and religious, can join in this common sentiment.

How the public debt is to be paid, or specie payments resumed, is not so important as that a plan should be adopted and acquiesced in. A united determination to do is worth more than divided councils upon the method of doing. Legislation upon this subject may not be necessary now, or even advisable, but it will be when the civil law is more fully restored in all parts of the country, and trade resumes its wonted channels.

It will be my endeavor to execute all laws in good faith, to collect all revenues assessed, and to have them properly accounted for and economically disbursed. I will to the best of my ability appoint to office those only who will carry out this design.

In regard to our foreign policy, I would deal with all nations as equitably as the law requires individuals would to deal with each other, and I protect the law-abiding citizen whether of native or of foreign birth, wherever his rights are jeopardized or the flag of our country floats. I would respect the equal rights of all nations, demanding equal respect for our own. If others depart from this rule in their dealings with us we may be compelled to follow their precedent.

The proper treatment of the original occupants of this land, the Indian, is one deserving careful study. I will favor any course towards them which tends to their civilization christianization and ultimate citizenship.

The question of suffrage is one which is likely to agitate the public so long as a portion of the citizens of the nation are excluded from its privileges in any State. It seems to me very desirable that this question should be settled now. I entertain the hope and express the desire that it may be, by the ratification of the 15th article in amendment of Constitution.

In conclusion, I ask patient forbearance one towards another throughout the land, and a determined effort on the part of every citizen to do his share towards cementing a happy Union, and I ask the prayers of the nation to Almighty God towards this consummation.

Deserved Recognition.

The members of the great and powerful Independent Order of Odd Fellows will celebrate on the 26th proximo, in Philadelphia, the semi-centennial anniversary of the establishment of their society on this continent. The occasion promises to prove one of the most interesting connected with the history of Odd Fellowship in America, and will attract delegates and visitors not only from all parts of our country but from foreign lands The principal feature of the exercises will be a grand civic procession in which some twenty full divisions of the order will participate, forming the most imposing demonstration of Peace ever witnessed in the City of Brotherly Love. General T. A. Rowley, United States Marshall for Western Pennsylvania, Grand Marshal of the State Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows, has been very wisely chosen Chief Marshal, and under his superior management and direction the parade cannot fail to be orderly and precise, creditable to the noble order under whose auspices it will be held The high honor thus conferred on one of our justly esteemed and gallant citizens is fully appreciated in this community, and indeed, throughout the entire commonwealth, for no gentleman is more universally known and respected. His universal courtesy, generosity of heart, and high-toned, honorable nature render him as conspicuous in civil as he was in military life, and the present honor conferred upon him could not have been more worthily bestowed or more generally seconded by the public at large.

General Rowley has designated Hon. James L. Graham, State Senator, and General R. Biddle Roberts as his assistants appointments which must afford unqualified satisfaction to all interested. —Pittsburg Gazette.

OFFICE WITH J. SEWELL STEWART, ESQ.
March 3, 1869 2t.

TO THE PEOPLE OF HUNTINGDON COUNTY.

HUNTINGDON, December 23, 1868.

As there appears to be considerable trouble about who shall be appointed Post-Master in our town, and it being an office for which the person who may be appointed, should contribute a liberal amount to some charitable purpose, I therefore offer myself as an applicant for the position of Post-Master at Huntingdon, Pa; and I propose and will agree, giving my bond with the Commissioners of Huntingdon county for the fulfillment of the same, should I be appointed, to erect a Monument for deceased soldiers, for the sum of Two Thousand Dollars; provided I am allowed to hold the office for the term of four years. Soldiers in the county, or the friends of our deceased soldiers, will confer a favor by circulating a petition in my behalf, and send the same to me,

Again on the move—improvements. Keep the ball in motion.

The house-hunting amusement has now commenced.

Horse-bills and sale-bills printed at this office on short notice.

A she-bear was killed in Mifflin county the other week.

Plowing has already commenced in some parts of Chester county.

140 members have been added to the Lutheran church in Lewistown since last fall.

The total loss by fire in this country, for thirteen years, is estimated at $389,605,000.

The issue at the recent borough election at Ebensburg, was hog and anti-hog. The latter won the day.

There is a little "Injin" in Huntingdon called ingenuity. He is growing bigger every day.

An enlightened swindler—the moon; it borrows from the sun and then makes light of it.

The Johnstown Democrat is enlarged to an eight column paper. Johnstown is big enough to support it and a daily beside.

Huntingdon county paid nearly as much money on scalp orders as nine of the neighboring counties. We never imagined foxes, wild cats, &c., had such precious scalps.

Hon. C. L. Pershing, of Johnstown, has been officially requested to pronounce the oration at the commencement of Jefferson and Washington college.

A man broke into Grove's store in Lewistown, and stole 500 pennies. That fellow wouldn't object to stealing more than he could carry.

Abner C. Wood, of Little Britain township Lancaster county, drove to market, lately, eight head of fat cattle, averaging the extraordinary weight of 2,100 pounds each.

Massachusetts ought to be a State in good standing, as she manufactures shoes and boots to the value of a hundred million dollars annually.

The thimble, originally called "thumbell," and afterwards "thumble," is a Dutch invention, and was unknown in England until the year 1605.

The statue for the Mexican monument at Harrisburg was shipped from Genoa last Monday. It is expected to arrive about the middle of the month.

Dr. Harris, of the New York Health Board reports that the small pox is rapidly spreading in that city, and a general vaccination is recommended.

Johnstown is so far behind the age that it has neither its streets named nor its houses numbered, and yet it brags of its ten thousand inhabitants.

About the meanest thing of the period was the recent putting of a powerful emetic in the sacramental wine at one of the Conneautville, Crawford county, churches.

The Chinese tea-plant is being very successfully cultivated in East Tennessee. The day is coming when Americans can drink their own tea without sending to China.

The scarlet fever is fearfully prevalent in Harrisburg, and in many cases whole households have been stricken down with the epidemic.

A boy named Joseph Rhodes, of Westmoreland county, died from the effects of being struck in the abdomen with a solid gum ball. A base ball will do the same.

The Altoona Tribune has been enlarged to an eight column paper. We have always admired the appearance of our cotemporary, and we think its enterprise should be amply rewarded.

We have received a copy of a monthly magazine, published at Pittsburgh, by O. Dwyer & Co., at $2.00 a year. The number before us for March is full of good articles, and contains a life-like engraving and a biography of Senator John Scott. The magazine coats 25 cents a copy.

A correspondent from Spring Valley sends us the following items: They had better wake up—the supervisors of Tod and Carbon and look out for breakers. Still out on duty—our Superintendent. Rather puny—School No. 8 of Tod. Yes, but few as there are, they are learning all the better.

We are glad our business men are beginning to see that they can get their printing done as cheap if not cheaper in Huntingdon than in the cities. The reason is obvious—country printers have no heavy rents to pay and are not obliged to live so fast. This rule will apply in all the ramifications of business in the country. Patronise home industry.

Dubuque has three applicants for the postmastership. One claims it because his wife is a cousin of Grant, another says he can "go him two nieces better," and the third wants it because he is a tanner. We would like to see all the claims of the dozen and one applicants in this borough stuck up in a row, to see how many claim Grant as uncle.

Mr. John Free has the foundation laid in West Huntingdon for a handsome two-story brick dwelling-house. The ground is being broken for several other buildings in the same place. The old borough is also looking up—Mr. Zach. Yenter and Mr. S. T. Brown being each about to build three-story bricks, and the preparations are making for the two-story brick fire-engine house,

Proceedings of the Borough Council.

Stated Meeting, March 5, 1869.

The Council met. Present—Assistant Burgess, Mr. Miller; Councilmen, Messrs. Artley, Black, Carmon, Cunningham, Hefright, Jackson and Port.

A petition of citizens of the borough complaining of the condition of Franklin street and of the pavements along the same and praying that measures may be adopted to improve the same, was read and referred to the committee on streets.

The committee appointed to settle with delinquent collectors of tax made report as follows:

Nathaniel Williams to Huntingdon Borough, Dr.

The Committee appointed by the Burgesses and Council of the borough of Huntingdon to settle with the late Collectors make the above reports as they stand stated; that the account of Nathaniel Williams shows a balance due the borough of $97 25; the account of Kennedy M. King appears settled, as per the above statement in full.

GEO. JACKSON,
A. ELLIOTT,
Committee.

Feb. 19, 1869.

On motion the report was accepted, ordered to be recorded and the committee discharged.

Bills were read and orders granted as follows:

To J. S. Corsman, advertising,	$10 50
Hunt. Gas Company, gas for Feb'y.,	18 90
Shoemaker & Galbagin, blacksmithing,	6 25

On motion it was ordered that the Street Commissioner shall proceed to break the stone on the road bed on the northern end of Washington street.

The chairman announced the allotment of the contract for furnishing plank and sills for the cemetery walk.

Mr. Black presented his resignation as a member of the Council which was read and was on motion accepted.—Mr. B., after stating the circumstances which constrained him to resign, expressed his thanks for the uniform courtesy of his fellow-members, and hoped that in future as in the past, the deliberations of the Council would be conducted in peace and harmony and with the view of advancing the interests of the borough. Adjourned.

Homicide.

The Hollidaysburg Register publishes the following particulars in relation to the death of Henry Murphy, a former resident of this place:

"Henry Murphy, the colored man who was injured in the fight on the 20th February, died on the 25th. An inquest was held on the 26th, before Justice Leet. It was proved before the jury that Murphy met John Campbell in the street, between the United States Hotel and Kinports & Co's. store, and asked Campbell to treat.—Campbell said he would give him this (striking him in the face) Murphy ran, Campbell after him, overtook him, and knocked him down, falling with the back of his head on a stone, from the effects of which he died. The jury rendered a verdict in accordance with these facts.

The post mortem examination was made by Doctors Hays and Smith, with the following results, as near as we can learn them. The whole of the back part of the head was bruised, and blood effused beneath the scalp—also a large quantity of blood was found effused beneath the membranes over a greater part of the brain, and at the base of the brain, with the laceration of the brain substance.

"Both men were under the influence of liquor. Campbell himself was badly injured afterwards in a fight with other parties."

The Pittsburgh Female College.

We clip the following complimentary notice of this institution from the Pittsburgh Chronicle. "The Pittsburgh Female College is enjoying marked prosperity, especially in the boarding department. There is but a single vacancy. Philadelphia, in the East, and St. Paul, Omaha, and Independence, Missouri, in the West, and intermediate points, have sent representatives to our institution. Among the numbers are the daughters of Bishops Simpson and Kingsley. Unusual facilities are afforded in all the solid and ornamental branches, and the College Faculty ranks among the very best in the land. The spring term will commence March 23d."

Send to Dr. I. C Pershing, President of the College, for a catalogue. *

DELICIOUSLY MEDICINAL.—This is the universal verdict pronounced upon Plantation Bitters by all who have tried them. The well-known health-promoting ingredients from which they are made, and their invaluable merits as a remedy for indigestion and all its consequent ailments, and the preventive qualities against diseases arising from climatic changes, minsmatic influences and imperfect secretions, are so widely known and so honorably endorsed, that we trust no one will forego the advantages of their use.

MAGNOLIA WATER.—Superior to the best imported German Cologne, and sold at half the price. tf

GARDEN AND FLOWER SEEDS.—Fresh and genuine Garden and Flower Seeds, from Collins, Alderson & Co's Seed Farms and Gardens, New Jersey, for sale at Massey & Co's, Enterprise Headquarters. tf

☞The only place in Huntingdon where the genuine "WHITE RIVER" can be bought is at Enterprise Headquarters.

Where Does the "Swindle" Come In?

Customers at Enterprise Headquarters are not charged prices to cover the value of presents. Call if you want to be convinced that others do.

It is the opinion of Mr. Corbin that a man is a blackguard if he exposes the high prices of Sugar, Stove Dumpers and Jumping Jacks at the Beehive.

Enterprise Headquarters gives more away in a week in the price of sugar alone than nine-tenths of all presents offered by the other enterprises are worth. The "swindle" comes in just where presents are offered and the people are charged more for goods than they can be bought for at other places.

Enterprise Headquarters wants its customers to compare its goods and prices with goods and prices at other stores, especially at those stores run by the combination of "other business men."

When the "other business men" combined to break down Enterprise Headquarters and "quick sales and small profits," they forgot to count the cost of the job they would have on hand.

The beautiful Chamber Set to be given away at Enterprise Headquarters is worth $25 It will be a handsome and useful present for some one. Call and see it—buy goods cheap—and take a chance to receive a handsome present.

All who buy for cash, or trade, at Enterprise Headquarters, save money and encourage liberality.

An immense stock of beautiful styles of Wall Paper, wholesale and retail, cheap, at Lewis' Book Store, Enterprise Headquarters.

Chance cards will be issued for subscriptions to "Globe", advertising, and job work, old accounts included.

When sugar went up, Enterprise Headquarters retailed to customers in five days nine barrels of stock on hand at old prices. Other merchants raised the prices on their stock. A new stock on hand and selling cheaper than the cheapest.

Enterprise Headquarters is helping the poor every day, by charging them less for goods than they can be bought for at other stores.

A full assortment of fresh Spices, Baking Powders, Prunes, Raisins, Cranberries, Currants, Citron, Dried Peaches and Apples, Beans, Rice, Hominy, Barley, Oatmeal, Mince Meat, etc, etc., the best Family Flour in the country, Corn Meal, Buckwheat Flour, Sugar Cured and Country Hams, Shoulders and Flitch, Lard, Potatoes, Coal Oil, etc., etc., always on hand at Enterprise Headquarters.

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.

SHADE GAP, March 4, 1869.

DEAR GLOBE: To-day we have a slight change in the weather in the shape of a light fall of snow, just sufficient to make the roads, which were dry, muddy again.

Well, I suppose A. Johnson will be mustered out to-day, and U. S. Grant mustered in. Although the latter had a very responsible position as Commander-in-Chief, he will find that the one upon which he now enters is a still more arduous undertaking, namely, that of governing the most intelligent and enlightened people upon the globe. But I suppose he thinks he is equal to the emergency, or he would never have written his letter of acceptance. We wish him well, and may it be said of him in after days years, as of the hero of old, contigit ut patriam vindicavet.

Our district schools will soon close for this term, which, in this township is very short, only four months, to say nothing of the salary paid the teachers, which is twenty five dollars, and a disgrace to the townships, and I sincerely hope the people's representatives, the school directors of this district will soon look at it in this light and have it raised to at the least calculation, thirty or thirty five dollars. The idea of teaching four months out of the year, for your boarding and starving the remainder, eight months, is enough to scare all good pedagogues out of the district. I do hope then, that the officials of Dublin School district will come to a realizing sense of their duty at an early date, and do the fair thing with teachers who desire to teach in their district. This is not a very rich township to be sure, but they could increase the salary to the sum before mentioned, and not feel it scarcely, if they cannot lengthen the school term.

The land around us here is pretty much limestone and slate, yielding good crops when properly cultivated. There is not very much stock raised here, notwithstanding it is a pretty good country for grazing. The farms are all well watered by small streams running from the mountains upon both sides of the valley. The mountains are covered with hemlock, rock and white oak, while upon timbered portions of the valley grow fine specimens of yellow and white pine, black walnut, chestnut and poplar, which finds its way to the numerous saw mills, both steam and water power, which are located here and there along the valley. QUIS.

DIED,

At Petersburg, February 20th, of congestion of the lungs, INEZ MAY, only child of Captain J. C. M. and Lizzie A. Hamilton, aged 5 months and 15 days.

At Bell's Mills, Blair county, on the 20th February, 1869, Mr. JOHN H AFRICA, aged 39 years.

The deceased was born in this place, and was beloved by all with whom he became associated. He went to reside in Altoona where he was engaged in the mercantile business. He soon won the esteem of those around him, and showed those many qualities of mind and heart that endeared him to all. He was a dutiful son, an affectionate brother, and a good citizen, and his loss is deeply felt by his many friends and relatives.

Green be the turf above thee,
Friend of our better days;
None knew thee but to love thee,
None named thee but to praise.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

"An Ounce of Prevention is Better than a Pound of Cure.

This is the most sickly period of the year but there is a remedy which is a constant protection against the causes of disease; it enters swiftly into the circulation of the blood, expels the morbific substance collected therein during the winter; corrects all morbid changes in the blood; regulates the supply and quality and equalizes the circulation of the blood; promotes the operations of the digestive organs; acts as a mild and efficacious stomachic; strengthens the nervous fibres and calms the nervous system; promotes buoyancy of spirits and feeling; revives the physical energies, and imparts vitality and elasticity to every organ of the human body. It is no less celebrated a preparation than MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS. Use it now—use it regularly every day—and prepare your system for the change in the season, and fortify it against the dangers of disease. mar10dom.

Sewing Machines
ARE THE
Oldest Established of any in the World.
Over 50,000 Sold in 1868.

These unequaled machines are adapted to every variety of sewing for family wear, from the lightest muslins to the heaviest cloths, and to the use of Seamstresses, Dress Makers, Tailors, Manufacturers of Shirts, Collars, Skirts, Cloaks, Mantillas, Clothing, Hats, Caps, Corsets, Ladies' Boots and Shoes, Linen Goods, etc. They work equally well upon silk, linen, woolen and cotton goods, with silk, cotton or linen thread. They will seam, quilt, hem, fell, cord, braid, bind, and perform every species of sewing, making a beautiful and perfect stitch, alike on both sides of the article sewed. Over 50,000 of these unrivalled machines were manufactured and sold during the year 1868. This is unprecedented in the history of sewing machines, and is another proof of the great popularity of the Howe Machine.

They have invariably won the highest honors at the great Exhibitions of the world, culminating at the late Exposition Universelle at Paris, where

THE GRANDEST COMBINATION OF PRIZES
EVER AWARDED AT THE EXHIBITION
TO ANY EXHIBITOR, FOR ANY GOODS
WHATEVER EXHIBITED,

was awarded for THE HOWE MACHINE—the Imperial Prize; the Cross of the Legion of Honor; a Gold Medal, the highest prize within the gift of the Jury, being the result of its EVIDENT EXCELLENCE.

Our interest not being second to that of purchasers of machines, in their successful operation, we hold ourselves in readiness to render any necessary and practicable assistance, by correspondence or otherwise, for this purpose, and for faithfulness in this respect, reference is made to the tens of thousands now using these machine.

ALLEN, ATWOOD & BATES,
4w Nos. 67 Milk, 78 & 84 Devonshire St., Boston, Mass

I want to rouse each sleepy head,
Who stand upon the brink,
Where yawning gulfs disclose the dead,
Who might, but did not, think.

I want to warn the living ones
Who blindly grope along,
Ye fathers, daughters, mothers, sons,
What perils round you throng!

Look out, my reader, are you free,
Or do you wear the mark?
Most all are blind and cannot see,
Yes, groping in the dark.

Catarrh, a demon in the head,
Consumption is its son;
Kills hosts, yes, countless millions, dead,
Perhaps you may be one.

That hacking, hawking, spitting, shows,
Catarrh affects your head,
Matter and slime in throat or nose,
Runs down your throat instead.

Your lungs and liver soon will show,
Consumption has its birth;
Catarrh, its sire, will feed it too,
'Till you return to earth.

If colds affect your head and throat,
ANNIHILATOR buy;
Now don't forget what I have wrote,
Or think this subject dry.

WOLCOTT'S ANNIHILATOR cures
Catarrh—the demon flies;
It saves the lungs, good health insures,
And Catarrh quickly dies.

I want to gratify my friends,
Who wish to understand
About PAIN PAINT, its use, its ends,
And why its great demand.

I want to show you, plain as day,
Why PAIN PAINT stops all pain;
That you may never have to say,
"I'll not try pain again."

PAIN PAINT will cool but never stain;
Pumps inflammation out;
'Tis harmless on the breast or brain,
A trial stops all doubt.

When inflammation leaves the frame,
All pain will cease at once;
Remove the cause, 'tis all the same;
None doubts unless a dunce.

The pores will ope and drink PAIN PAINT;
Absorbents fill with ease;
Restores the weak, the sick, the faint,
The greatest skeptics please.

Evaporation cools the place
As inflammation flies;
Hot blood at the absorbent's base
Makes PAINT in vapor rise.

'Tis thus PAIN PAINT removes all doubt,
Removes the very cause
By pumping inflammation out;
On this we rest our cause.

Wit, Humor and Wisdom.

How to "serve" a dinner—eat it.

Kid nappers—young goats sleeping.

There's many a skip 'twixt the flea and the nip.

A waste of raw material—two young ladies kissing each other.

What is the most uncertain thing in life? A woman's age.

We are never so happy or unfortunate as we think ourselves.

Which senator wears the largest hat? The one with the largest head.

The most difficult surgical operation—to take the cheek from a young man and the jaw from an old woman.

Throw up the chin and out the chest;
Assume the form of the letter S;
Like a kangaroo your arms extend,
And then you'll have the Grecian Bend.

At a public house in Devonshire the landlord has painted up outside his door: "Good beer sold here; but don't take my word for it."

Ike's last trick was to throw Mrs. Partington's old gaiter in the alley, and call the old lady down from the third floor to see an alley-gaiter.

The lovely hair my Celia wears
Is hers; who would have thought it?
She swears 'tis her's; and true she swears,
For—I know where she bought it.

"How is coal now?" inquired a gentleman of a son of the Emerald Isle who was dumping a load of coal in Fulton street. "Black as iver, sir, be jabers!" responded Patrick.

Jones complained of a bad smell about the post office; and asked Brown what it could be. Brown didn't know, but suggested that it might be caused by the "dead letters."

A dandy wishing to be witty, accosted an old rag-man as follows:

"You take all sorts of rubbish in your cart, don't you?"

"Yes—jump in, jump in!"

A person asked Mr. Patrick Maguire if he knew Mr. Tim Duffy.—"Know him!" said Pat.; "why he's a very near relation of mine. He once proposed to marry my sister!"

Where are the lightest men to be found—in England, Ireland, or Scotland? In Scotland there are men of air (Ayr); in Ireland, there are men of cork (Cork); but down the Thames you will find lighter men (lightermen.)

"I don't want mother to marry again," said a little boy one day at breakfast. "Why not?" was asked with some surprise. "Because," said he, "I've lost one father, and I don't want the trouble of getting acquainted with another."

This, you know, ladies, is "just so:"

"I luv to court in Winter the menny gurls I kno; when all around is dreary and kivered up with snow; because the old uns dread the cold and stormy wether, and hurry off to bed, leaving us together."

The following remarkable advertisement appeared in the columns of a country newspaper:

"Lost, by a poor boy tied up in a brown paper with a white string, a German flute in an overcoat, and several articles of wearing apparel."

Aunt Betsy was trying to persuade little Jack to retire at sunset, using an argument that all little chickens went to roost at that time.

"Yes," said little Jack, "but the old hen always goes with them."

Aunty tried no more arguments with him.

"Has that gal got fits?" asked an old farmer who had paused to see a young lady go through with her calisthenic exercise in the garden.

"No," replied the servant girl, "that is jimmy nastics."

"So," said the farmer, in a pitying tone, "poor thing; how long's she had 'em?"

A city miss on a visit to the country was surprised at the skill of a girl in milking a cow. "I didn't know you did it in that way," she said, with wide-eyed wonder, "I thought they took hold of the cow's tail, and pumped the milk out of her!. What's she got such a long tail for?"

A Western editor, complaining that he could not sleep one night, summed up the causes: "A wailing babe of sixteen months old, a dog howling under the window, a cat squalling in the alley, a colored serenade in a shanty over the way, a toothache, and a pig trying to get in at the back door."

A gentleman who wanted to make a speech to a Sunday school, thought he would adopt a colloquial style, and this is what happened: "Now, boys, what does a man want when he goes a-fishing?" A shrill voice in the crowd went directly to the point with, "Wants a bite." The gentleman sat down without further remarks.

Small boy on tip toe to his companions:

"Say, stop you noise, all of you."

Companions—"Hello, Tommy! what is the matter?"

Small boy—"We've got a new baby, it's very weak and tired, walked all the way from Heaven last night, must not be kicking up a row round here now."

A Quaker gentleman riding in a carriage with a fashionable lady decked with a profusion of jewelry, heard her complain of the cold. Shivering in her lace bonnet and shawl as thin as cobweb, she exclaimed:

"What shall I do to get warm?"

"I really don't know," replied the Quaker solemnly, unless thee should put on another breastpin.

One of the boys.—"Where were you Charley?" "In the garden, ma." "No—you have been swimming,—you know I cautioned you about going to the creek. I will have to correct you. Look at your hair how wet it is." "Oh, no, ma, this is not water, it is sweat." "Ah, Charley, I have caught you fibbing, your shirt is wrong side out."—Boy, triumphantly—"O, I did that just now, ma, climbing the fence!"

Can't be Done.—"Going to leave?" "Yes mum; I find I am werry discontented." "If there is anything I can do to make you comfortable, let me know." "M-missus, it's impossible! You can't alter your figger to my figger no more'n I can. Your dresses won't fit me, and I can't appear on Sundays as I used to do at my last place, where missus's clothes fitted 'exactly.'"

HUNTINGDON, PA.

SOLDIERS' HEIRS, ATTENTION!

The act of Congress approved March 2. 1867, gives to Heirs of Soldiers who died prisoners of war, for the time the soldier was so held a prisoner, at the rate of twenty-five cents per day, to be paid in the following order: 1st. To the widow, if unmarried; 2d. To the children; 3d. To the parents, to both jointly if they are living, if either is dead, to the survivor; 4th. To the brothers and sisters.

COMMUTATION FOR RATIONS,

The act of February 28, 1867, provides for the refunding of the $100 Commutation Money, where the same person was again drafted, and was required to enter the service or furnish a substitute.

DISCHARGED SOLDIERS.

The act of March 2, 1867, also makes provisions for the payment of the

$100 ADDITIONAL BOUNTY

to such soldiers as have accidentally lost their discharges

All persons having any claims under any of the above mentioned Acts, or any other kind of claim against the United States or State Governments, can have them promptly collected, by addressing the undersigned. Information and advice cheerfully given to soldiers or their friends, free of charge.

STEAM PEARL MILL,

HUNTINGDON, PA.

THIS MILL is a complete success in the manufacture of FLOUR, &c. It has lately been thoroughly repaired and is now in good running order and in full operation.

The burrs and choppers are new and of superior quality—cannot be excelled. And we are gratified to know that our work has given entire satisfaction to our customers, to whom we tender our thanks.

We have in our employ one of the best millers in the county, and a faithful and capable engineer. Thus equipped and encouraged, we are determined to persevere in our efforts to accommodate and please the public, hoping thereby to merit and receive a liberal share of patronage to sustain us in our enterprise for the public interest.

Ayer's

Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them: those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does, once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

McGUIRE'S

SPANISH HAIR DRESSER

FOR PROMOTING THE GROWTH, BEAUTIFYING THE HAIR.

And rendering it dark and glossy. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair. The use of this oil as a hair dresser has been universal in every section of the country in the Spanish Main for centuries.—No preparation of art could give that elegant luxuriance and abundance of hair which have so often been the admiration of travelers in Spain. This oil is highly and delicately perfumed, forming an article unrivaled in excellence and upon which the Spanish people for many years have set its seal of enduring approval.

McGUIRE'S

Mexican Wild Flowers Shampoo Lotion

For removing dandruff and scurf from the head, whitening and perfuming the skin. This article is entirely different from anything of the kind ever offered in this country and is warranted free from all poisonous substances. This valuable lotion was used by the Emperor Maximilian, and Empress Carlotta of Mexico, and universally used by Mexicans for three hundred years. As a wash for the head—it is cooling, cleansing and refreshing.—When thus used it at once relieves headache.

McGUIRE'S

WILD FLOWERS FOR THE TEETH.

All those who are in favor of white teeth and a pleasant and perfumed breath should at once use McGuire's Wild Flowers for the Teeth. All these preparations are put up in the most elegant and ornamental manner. We make no exception in saying that they are an ornament to a lady's toilet table, and none complete without them.
